Landrum Human Resource Companies Earns HRCI Approved Provider Certification

Pensacola, Florida - January 7, 2010 - The Human Resource Certification Institute (HRCI) has certified Landrum Human Resource Companies (Landrum) as an HRCI Approved Provider. The program allows Landrum to award recertification credit for continuing education to HR professionals who have earned the designation of Professional in Human Resources (PHR), Senior Professional in Human Resources (SPHR), and Global Professional in Human Resources (GPHR).

Landrum offers more than 20 professional training seminars throughout the year in areas such as Management, Safety, Customer Service, and Business Development. Many of which may be qualified for HRCI recertification credits. Business owners, managers, and employees can earn re-certification points / continuing education credits by attending the seminars that are approved by HRCI.

“Trained managers make better, more informed decisions”, comments Elizabeth Oakes, SPHR, Landrum Professional Human Resource Manager, “Our seminars give supervisors the tools to be more effective and successful in their work.” “We are thrilled to take our seminar program to the next level by becoming an approved provider” Oakes adds.

According to the Human Resource Certification Institute’s website, the HRCI seal of approval protects the value of the programs. Each pre-approved program undergoes a practical analysis performed by the Institute to ensure it meets the criteria of adding to a certified professional’s knowledge of the HR field.
