A Model to Encourage & Share Best Practices

MAY 29 • EDUCATION SUMMIT • 8:00 AM – 4:30 PM
In response to national education initiatives centered on closing the student achievement gap and developing effective teachers, the Florida Sterling Council in collaboration with the Department of Education is hosting Florida's 3rd Annual Education Summit "Building on Student Success." Florida has been leading the way in bringing together superintendents, principals, teachers, association leaders, school board members, and the business community to expand and capitalize on what's working well in education.

On May 29, 2012, join education leaders from across our nation and state as we share highly promising practices and future innovative benchmarks. This event is the premier source for innovative ideas and exciting new processes to implement in your school district as we work together to make Florida the best education system in the country.

The Vision for Education in Florida K-12

"The Florida Education Summit is bringing together experts to take the lead on our nation's key challenges in education. Closing the student achievement gap for low-income and minority students, understanding the importance of school leadership in creating a culture of success, as well as addressing teacher evaluations as a model to drive student success are all critical issues facing education. The Florida Education Summit positions Florida as a leader in education best practices to prepare our students to succeed in college, the workplace, and to help us to compete for jobs in the global economy." – Commissioner Gerard Robinson
